

Double-OOD population modeling exposes a direction-calibration trade-off

Dots are perturbation conditions after averaging eight population resamples; intervals bootstrap target identities (10,000 resamples).